

Are you someone who's always looking out for others?

ARCHWAY is looking for people with this natural gift of caring to train to become Community Health Workers.

The Atlanta Region Community Health Workforce Advancement (ARCHWAY) Program is a training program for current and aspiring community health workers (CHW). Atlanta has care needs across its 18 core and surrounding counties that can be met by community health workers (CHW). Advancing the Community Health Worker workforce in Atlanta will help address health equity gaps, costs, quality, and access needs affected by social determinants.

Community health workers have the unique ability to bridge the gap between communities, social services, and health care systems to improve delivery of care and increase access to services. Growing evidence demonstrates the positive impact of CHWs on improving health outcomes and reducing healthcare costs.

Please join us for the 12-week curriculum offered in English and Spanish through a combination of in-person and online learning. The program will focus on core competencies for CHWs and Public Health focusing on health equity and social determinants of health, evidence-based core competences for public health, including emergency response education, prevention, treatment, and vaccine hesitancy research.

80
HOURS

Educational Training Curriculum

20
HOURS

Simulation Experiences

80
HOURS

Experiential Learning

STIPENDS ARE AVAILABLE FOR PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS.

We believe that CHWs have the power to transform health care in our communities.

Please join us in this exciting work.

Learn more at www.GeorgiaCHW.org or email Kevin Crawford at kevin.michael.crawford@emory.edu

EMORY | NELL HODGSON WOODRUFF SCHOOL OF NURSING

This program is supported by HRSA as part of an award totaling $3 million with 0.05 percent financed with non-governmental sources.